During the ceremony, atended by approximately 50 district employes, Mrs. O'Connor was given a transistor radio by her co-workers.

She was first president of the Lemon Grove School Employes Association and editor of the classified employes monthly bulletin.

She has been active in the California Association of Public School Business Officials and served as chairman of the Purchasing Committee of San Diego and Imperial section; State Chairman for Special Vendor Committee and a member of the California Association of Public Purchasing Officials. She also was given a certificate of apreciation by the California School Employes Association.

Death Stalks Area Streets

Locally, tragedy marked the year's end, as the CHP reports the death of Craig Davis, as the year's final fatality, and the first death incurred on the highway, with the death of the one year old Carol Denise Rohl.

Craig Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Davis, Star Route Box 103, Spring Valley, was struck and killed at 1:25 p.m., Dec. 31, at Highway 94 East End of Sweetwater Bridge, by an auto driven by 18 year old Linda Ann Chance, 2663 Chatham, El Cajon. The child, walking with his parents eastbound along Rt. 94, apparently darted into the path of an oncoming vehicle. No one was held negligent.

Carol Denise Rohl, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Rohl, 7110 London Lane, Lemon Grove, was crushed to death under the wheels of a neighbor's auto at 3:20 p.m., Jan. 1. The driver, Dorothy Candela, 33 of 7118 London Lane, Lemon Grove, was not aware that the child was playing in the street, and backed the car over her.

Deputy Police Chief Fired

San Diego Deputy Police Chief Athos E. Sada, a veteran of more than 25 years on the force, was fired Tuesday by Police Chief Wesley Sharp.

Sharp said his action had been approved by newly appointed City Manager Walter Hahn.

Sharp reported that Sada had become increasingly incapable of administering within the department the responsibilities assigned to him in his $16,820 a year job.

One source of information said trouble started more than a year ago when Sada had an altercation in a Fifth Ave. restaurant. No details of the trouble was available.

Sada had been asked to retire last year. He was eligible to retire on last November 17. He would have drawn half his $16,820 a year salary.

A department head said Sada would be eligible for his retirement pay in spite of being fired. Sada is 53.

The DIMMER VIEW

Spring Showers and S.D. River

The rainfall total reached 7.89 inches in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley areas as the last rain of 1966 was recorded a few days ago.

The rain season is from July 1 to June 30 so there is another half year to go—and perhaps the wettest part of the 1966-67 season will be inthe part yet to come.

In Southern California in general—and San Diego in particular—the rain day is from 5 p.m. one day through 4:59 p.m. the next. With the rain season broken into parts of two years and the rain day starting just about the time when almost everybody's work day ends, it is easy to see why rainfall record keeping isn't as simple as it ought to be.

Not only that, but there is usually a wide variance between rainfall totals from year to year—without rhyme or reason.

We are grateful to the CALIFORNIA RANCHER for pointing out recently that the first settlers in San Diego planted seeds along the edge of the San Diego River, at the base of Presidio Hill in 1769. That year their crops washed out.

The next year they planted further up the hill and it was a dry year. Their crops perished from the drought.

Last year was a "wet" year in San Diego. More than 15 inches of rain fell. If it is as wet in the spring as it was last fall, the total for the rain yearwill be just short of 16 inches. Of the last hundred years, only slightly more than a dozen have been wetter.

The wetness of the year and the condition of the San Diego River has long been an intriguing combination for old timers to think about. There are those who say the San Diego River will run again and Mission Valley fill with rain water from hillside to hillside. If it does, Mission Valley Center; Highway 80; the Masonic Temple; the new stadium, and other construction new during the past decade, will be inundated.

Following a real estate board of directors meeting a few weeks ago at the heighth of the last storm, two members were standing at a window in the new Hanalei Hotel watching the water swirl across the golf course to the north building—in the bed of the old San Diego River. Asked one of the other: "Which one do you think will float down the river first if it rains a few more days—the stadium or the center?"

The sun has been shining regularly since then and the rain water has receded into the ground, so the jest isn't as grim as it was during the storm. But oldtimers like to remember the sparkling water of the San Diego River—and some even lay claim to having fished in it.

Be that as it may, this year it looks like this may be one of our rainier years. So that a comparison can be made, we asked the U.S. Weather Bureau for the past performance totals (broken into rainfall seasons, of course) for the past hundred years or so.

Here is what the Bureau reports:

Season	Year's Total
1850-1	8.41	1908-9	10.23
		1909-0	9.79
		1910-1	11.99

Success Story

Local Merchant Meets Businessman's Midas

Thirty-one-year old, Yuma born Bobby Stone, 5734 Redwood St., San Diego, came to Lemon Grove three years ago, equipped with an interest in the small home-town environment offered by the community, and determination to be successful.

Having been schooled and licensed in the sale and installation of auto, plate and window glass for the past 14 years, Stone purchased the Lemon Grove Glass Co., located at that time on North St., Lemon Grove.

The Original Owner, Harry Wilson, had established a foundation of good will upon which industrious Stone built his trade, supplementing the initial owner's friendly customer-relations with an unprecedented policy of on-the-spot repair and boasting a 'no appointment necessary' claim.

Stone has increased the insurance auto glass replacement field 30% over that of the original owner's, which explains in part why Stone's gross annual income now exceeds that of the former owner by approximately $24,000 annually.

Stone, married and the father of three boys, now deals in wholesale, retail and custom glass.

Rabies Advisory Council Activated By Supervisors

A citizens advisory council will be formed to help curb the present outbreak of rabies in San Diego County it was announced Tuesday by the County Board of Supervisors.

The action was recommended by Dr. J. B. Askew, county health director; James Moon, county agricultural commissioner, and Dr. E. R. Quortrup, county veterinarian.

The action follows closely the countywide quarantine that went into effect Sunday.

Boney's Idea

Supervisor Henry Boney asked the board Tuesday to approve his suggestion that the seven county organizations be asked to name a member each to the rabies council.

Boney said the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove communities are keys in the control of rabies as a buffer zone between rural and urban areas.

The organizations include the local Veterinary Medical Association, Wildlife Federation, Farm Bureau, Poultry Association, Cattlemen's Association, Humane Society and the California Varmint Callers Association.

Askew, Quortrup, Moon and a representative of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will serve as ex-officio members of the council.

Boney said he based his list of participating organizations on suggestions made by Askew and Quortrup in letters to the board.

Council's Help Cited

In his letter, Quortrup suggested that the council's job would be to help the county program and to advise the supervisors on needed revisions.

The county's program presently includes an intensive trapping program to reduce the population of wild animals susceptible to the disease.

The new quarantine, expanded from one which has been in effect in San Diego and the South Bay since 1962, requires leashing or confinement to their owners' premises of all dogs in the county.

Quortrup yesterday also announced that the county closed out the year with a total of 63 rabies cases, compared with nine for 1965.

Of the 63 cases, 55 were in wild animals including 38 foxes, 10 bobctts, 4 skunks and 3 coyotes. The rest were dogs.

$5,000 Receipts Smolders to Ashes

Michael's Fire Loss $40,000

Fire, which originated under a piano platform and which fed on a pile of discarded New Year's Eve decorations, extensively damaged Michael's Restaurant early Tuesday morning. The restaurant is at 7828 Broadway, Lemon Grove.

The restaurant will be closed "at least two weeks", said William Goldy, owner of the firm.

Loss of $30,000 to $40,000" was estimated by firemen though structural loss was minimal.

Lost in the fire were receipts from Sunday and Monday totaling more than $5,000 according to Lois Connelly, Michael's manager. Only a double-handful of silver was salvaged. Paper money and checks were reduced to a small pile of ashes.

The money had been stacked in a piano in the main dining room—the piano on which the decorations had been piled.

Miss Conolly said she had started taking down holiday decorations soon after the restaurant closed at 10 p.m. Monday.

At 1:30 a.m. Tuesday she left for home to return at 6 a.m. to find the place filled with smoke.

Smoke Boils Out

"The smoke came boiling out when I opened the door," she said.

Firemen, under assistant chief Fred Dixon, had the smoldering material doused by 7 a.m. and the place cleaned up by 9 a.m. The alarm was given by Sam Kahan, a business neighbor, who had just opened his establishment—the Popular Delecatessen—for the day.

"Considerable repair and remodeling will be necessary before we can re-open," Goldy said.

Miss Connolly said she put the money in the piano because the firm's safe 'had been robbed so often."

Lemon Grove Fire Marshal Raymond Carmody said that Goldy had been ordered to remove several light-weight extension cords several weeks earlier.

They had not been removed by the time of Tuesday's fire, Carmody noted.

Funds had been removed from the safe at least two times during the six years the firm had been operated by Goldy.

The building in which the fire occurred was sold to the new owners December 27.

Building Recently Sold

It was bought by Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Light, of Estrelle St., San Diego, from Ed Lewis, of Spring Valley. The west 50 feet—the bar section—of the building is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kahan, who operate the Delicatessen at 7826 Broadway. Mrs. Light is Mr. and Mrs. Kahan's daughter.

A fire broke out in the kitchen when a gas line ruptured about four years ago as several hundred local citizens were honoring A. F. "Tony" Sonka. The ceremony that night was completed with a corps firemen standing by to avert a catastrophe.

The restaurant has been under several ownerships until William Goldy acquired it. At one time it was owned and operated by his brother, Henry Goldy. The latter now operates the Bronze Room in La Mesa.

Van Deerlin's Seniority Earns Bigger Offices

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, is beginning the New Year and his third Congressional term with a move into expanded offices.

"We have three rooms for work in our new location," the Congressman said. "As a result, we should be able to function with maximum efficiency, both in serving constituents and in processing legislation." The new address is 541 Cannon House Office Building.

Van Deerlin's old suite, in the Longworth House Office Building, consisted of only two rooms. Because of increased seniority, he was given the opportunity to move into the larger quarters.

The San Diego Democrat, who was returned to office by a personal record margin in the November elections, already has announced plans to open the new session of Congress by introducing legislation to prevent the premature broadcast of election results.

Van Deerlin has moved up this year to become the ninth ranking Democrat on the 33-member Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. He stands third in seniority on the Committee's important Subcommittee on Communications and Power and is also a member of the Special Subcommittee on Investigations.

Siegmund W. (Sieg) Smith, veteran Administrative Assistant, heads the Congressman's Washington staff of five persons.

Robert R. (Dusty) Rhodes, a former Navy career man, is in charge of Van Deerlin's San Diego office. Rhodes is assisted by three staffers. The 37th District field office is in the main Post Office building, 815 E Street, San Diego.

Chamber Dinner is Kickoff For May 'Old Time' Event

Catherine Gee, of 3244 Buena Vista, Lemon Grove, has been named chairman of the Kick-off Dinner by which funds will be raised for "Old Time Days" here in May.

The announcement was made by Dr. Sam Smith, Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce president. The chamber is sponsoring "Old Time Days" to be held May 25, 26 and 27. In charge of the event is the chamber's merchants' division.

The dinner will be held at the L.G. Bowlero January 28. Proceeds from the $3.50 a plate affair will be used to supply a temporary judging stand and a speaker system for the May event.

During Old Time Days more than 20,000 persons are expected to be attracted to Lemon Grove. A parade featuring a revue of junior high school bands in San Diego County will climax the May event. Prizes will be given by the chamber for best old-fashioned costumes.

Leading off the parade will be aproximately 50 early vintage autos. Early day airplanes will be flown overhead to give more of an old-fashioned flower to the event.

Tickets for the kick-off dinner may be obtained from Mrs. Gee or from the L.G. Chamber of Commerce.

Fred Rhodes, Former City Manager, Dies

He served many offices of city government during the 50 years in public service and served as San Diego city manager twice between 1932 and 1951. He also served as manager of National City.

A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none. (Luke 13:6)

One winter day I trudged through the woods in central Florida. I was tired and thirsty. Then, suddenly, like a desert oasis, a citrus tree loaded with oranges appeared in a small clearing. It was not a grove. It was simply one tree standing alone.

The fruit, however, was a disappointment. Every orange I cut was pithy, tasteless, and without juice. That tree had not been cared for. No one had pruned its branches. Fertilizers had not been added to the soil. All alone, the tree had done what it could, but that was not enough.

So it is with life. Without God's guidance, without such spiritual helps as prayer, Bible reading, and church attendance, our lives cannot bear the kind of fruit God created us to produce.

Our hearts must be pruned of sin, nurtured in God's love, and trained in doing His will. Otherwise, we may appear beautiful on the outside but within be like the citrus tree—producing fruit that is tasteless and unhelpful to our fellowman.

Prayer: Father, teach us how to use our lives for Thee. Help us to prune away all selfishness in order that we may produce fruit to help others along life's journey. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Though for the day: Am I a disappointment to God and man because of the kind of fruit I am producing?

TB Leading Killer Warns Dr. R. Rosen

Tuberculosis is still the leading killer among contagious diseases in California, Dr. Robert Rosen, Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area chairman of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County, reported today.

Citing a report issued recently by Dr. Lester Breslow, state director of public health, he said TV took the lives of 1,178 Californians in 1965. Syphilis, second deadliest communicable disease, accounted for 231 deaths.

The 4,908 new, active cases of TB reported to state health officials in 1965 compare favorably with 5,328 reported in 1964, "but the rate of decrease is not as rapid as we hoped it would be," Dr. Rosen said.

The number of cases in TB "pockets" still remain alarmingly high, with Los Angeles leading the state with 1,525 new cases in 1965. San Francisco reported 531; Alameda, 235; San Diego, 223; Fresno, 236; and Sacramento, 195.

Other counties reporting more than 100 new TB cases were Orange, 177; Riverside, 115; San Bernardino, 128; San Joaquin, 148; San Mateo, 101; and Santa Clara, 127.

The Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County, public, and private medical authorities are cooperating in a widespread efort to reduce TB cases. Each of the counties listed above is eligible for continuing federal aid to a nationwide program to wipe out TB, Dr. Rosen said.

"Despite all our best efforts, without public knowledge and support, we cannot defeat TB," Dr. Rosen said. "Christmas Seal contributions suport public health education and information activities designed to counter the widespread idea that tuberculosis is a thing of the past.

The Consumer Price Index

A little item on the front page of your newspaper might read:

"The cost of living rose another 0.2% last month, according to the latest figures released today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics . . ."

What is the "cost of living index" anyway and what does it measure or not measure?

To begin with, a more accurate term would be the "Consumer Price Index." This is a monthly measure—compiled since 1918—of changes in the price of goods and services consumed by urban families and individuals. These prices are currently expressed as a percentage of price during the 1957-1959 period.

The index's full name is really "Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers." It is a mouthful and explains quite a bit about what the index will and won't measure.

It does not, for example, measure changes in living costs of the professional man, the technician, or the household servant. Nor does it deal with the expenses of the poverty-stricken or elderly pensioners. The reason for this is quite obvious. Each group has different spending habits, and to run separate tabulations is costly and difficult.

So the consumer price index is a yardstick—a rough one at that—to measure price changes for a hypothetical family of 3.7 persons living in or near a city whose take home pay averaged $6,230 a year in 1960 and 1961.

The 400 or so items priced fall into five major categories: food, housing, apparel and upkeep, transportation, and health and recreation. Items run from pork chops to permanent waves to the cost of having a tooth pulled. Luxuries as well as necessities are counted in.

Prices are collected at regular intervals in five major metropolitan areas and 45 smaller urban areas. More than a other price quotations are gathered each year. The task of million separate food prices, 68,000 rental charges and 350,000 collecting these figures belongs to about 200 housewives and a force of 60 or so fulltime shoppers who watch over price changes that are particularly difficult to report accurately.

Mathematical weighing is used to establish what the overall price increase averages out to. For example, 5.5% of a budget is spent on meat, poultry, and fish as compared to 2.5% on cereals and bakery items. Thus an increase in the price of meat has more of an effect on the consumer price index than an increase in a loaf of bread. Other factors taken into consideration in arriving at an average price include the product prices according to city, buying habits, and product preferences.

Although the consumer price index is sometimes incorrectly labeled as a cost of living index, it fails to measure the full cost of living: This is partly because (1) quality changes are not measured precisely, and (2) there are delays in including new goods and services.

Still, the end result of this careful reporting and analysis is a valuable, closely watched statistical tool. For economists the index is a handy yardstick for gauging the nation's economic health. The index figures are frequently used in labor-management negotiations and for automatic pay raises or increases in pension benefits.

Bus Earnings Rise Slightly But More Service Cuts Eyed

Increased earnings resulted from service reductions and route abandonments during 1966 for the San Diego Transit System, according to Gene E. Holmes, vice president and general manager.

Continued growth of charter operations by California Bus Tours, a division of San Diego Transit, also contributed to the earnings from operations which are expected to exceed the 1965 net of $36,000.

The sharp decline of total passengers in previous years leveled somewhat with 15 million estimated for 1966 against the 1965 total of 15.6 million. Student riders declined nearly 40% which would indicate a slight increase in adult passengers during the year.

Service cutbacks resulted in a saving of over 650,000 miles from the 1965 total of 7 million, a reduction of nearly 10%. The company now operates over 260.6 miles of route, 15½ miles less than a year ago.

Projections indicate revenues will approximate $5,050,000, a 1% gain over the 1965 total.

California Bus Tours gross revenues for 1966 are being estimated at $350,000, an increase of 33½% over the 1965 total of $262,710. Charters by conventions and Senior Citizens' groups provided the bulk of new business. Expansion of activities and a further increase in revenues has been limited by lack of equipment and drivers due to service curtailments by San Diego Transit.

Transit finished the year with 216 buses compared with 235 a year ago. Employes droped slightly for the year to a new low of 460. There were 466 aJnuary 1, 1966, down considerably from the year earlier figure of 532 employes.

Routes abandoned in 1966 were C. D and G, all special services routes to Convair, Kearney Mesa. Two routes in National City, 12 and W, were merged and three in the La Mesa-Spring Valley area, 7, E and F, were merged.

"Studies presently being conducted may result in additional applications to cut service if impending public ownership is delayed further," said Holmes.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Learning to identify the head and face in Spanish can be as easy as playing a game. We can start from the very top of the head with "pelo" for "hair" and work down. If we touch the parts as we say them aloud, we will learn to identify them with greater ease.

Place your hand on your hair and say "pelo" three times. The physical association of touching objects as they are being learned plus the repeating of the words that identify the objects, help the learning and recall processes considerably.

Now, place your hand on your froehead and say "frente." Repeat "frente" three times and move down to "cejas" for "eye brows." Say "cejas" three times while your finger touches them. Point to your eyes and say "ojos.' Touch your nose and say "nariz."

Here are some more words to work with: "boca" for "mouth", "dientes" for "teeth" and "orejas" for "ears." Be sure you repeat them as you touch or point to them. Circle your head with your hand and say "cabeza," for "head." "La cara" for "the face" is our last new word.

Now practice this week's telephone lesson using words related to parts of the head and face. Dial 276-2762. Then listen to and repeat the words and phrases.

Important Expressions:

Say "Mi oreja es redonda" (mee oh-REH-hah ehs reh-DOHN-dah)
for "My ear is round."
Say "Mi pelo no es largo" mee PEH-lo noh ehs LAHR-goh)
for "My hair is not long."

Household Expressions:

Say "Yo lavo los dientes" (yoh LAH-voh lohs dee-EHN-ths)
for "I brush my teeth."
Say "Mi cara esta limpia" (me KAH-rah eh-STAH LEEM-pee-ah)
for "My face is clean."

Other Expressions:

Say "No me duele la cabeza" (noh meh doo-EH-leh kah-BEH-sah)
for "My head does not hurt."
Say "Usted tiene ojos grandes" (oo-STEHD tee-EHN-neh OH-hos GRAHN-dehs)
for "You have large eyes."

HOBBYISTS — John Gray, left, assists Jim Loveland in their garage-shop. The duo, with the help of Louie Holland, not pictured, has designed, constructed, and manufactured Vis-A-Lite, a product enabling house numbers to be read easily at night.

GARAGE FACTORY SUCCESS STORY TOLD

Hobby Proves Profitable For Spring Valley Trio

A man with a hobby is a happy man. Proof of this adge is James C. Loveland, 428 Mariea St., Spring Valley.

Loveland, crippled by a birth defect, suffers partial impairment of mobility in both legs. Yet, he is employed by a large manufacturing concern in the area as, an industrial engineer; drives an automobile, and enjoys boating for relaxation.

The realization that man is sometimes happiest when he is completely involved with an outside project, such as a hobby, coupled with the dismay experienced by Loveland as he atempted to locate a house number in the dark, gave birth to a novel and profitable hobby for Loveland.

Loveland, assisted by an El Cajon friend, John Gray, and an uncle, Louis Holland, a machinist by trade, set up shop in Loveland's garage.

The aggressive and industrious trio began on a small level, to make house number signs that could be electrically lighted and easily read.

It was the intention of the group to give these handcrafted items to friends and relatives.

Today, after three years of ardurous effort, concentrated study, and time-consuming week-ends, the trio has found the answer.

The product, caled Vis-A-Lite, is a personalized house number, constructed from plastic, illuminated by a 120 ac current, and made for self installation.

The demand was greater than the supply, and now the product will sell on the commercial market for a nominal cost.

Vis-A-Lite was designed, constructed, and marketed by the group, and its unique feature is the fact that the name and number are engraved in plexiglass, thereby allowing all etched edges to become luminous.

Where there is a will there is a way, and in relation to this saying one might say, where there is a need, there is a answer.

Pee Wee and Tiny Tot Swim Classes to Open

A new series of swimming lessons for small boys and girls from 1 to 6 years of age will begin Jan. 16 at the Ira C. Copley Memorial YMCA. 3901 Landis, San Diego.

The Tiny Tot swim lessons are specially planned for youngsters from 3 to 6 years old. They will have ten forty-five minute lessons, with classes twice weekly on Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday. There is a nominal cost of $10.00 for old students and $12.00 for new students.

Pee Wee Swim classes for youngsters in the 1 to 3 year bracket are scheduled for half hour lessons twice weekly with mother going into the pool with the child. There is free baby sitting during classtime, and the fee for ten lessons is $10.00.

And then there's the story about the non-scheduled airline inviting passengers to show their own home movies.

CPA, Merrill Weber Advises Taxpayers to Get Deductions

Tips on getting all that's coming to you via your 1967 income tax obligation forms are being offered by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Merrill Weber, CPA and local member, supplied these suggestions. Others will appear from week to week as space permits.

Dec. 31

The deductibility of medical expenses will be changed for some taxpayers in 1967. Present law provides that medical expenses are deductible only to the extent they exceed 3% of a taxpayer's adjusted gross income. However, if either the husband or wife is 65 or older, the 3% limitation does not apply to their medical expenses. In addition, the 3% limitation does not apply to medical expenses paid for a dependent parent 65 or older.

New law. In 1967, a new law will apply the 3% limitation to all taxpayers. Therefore, taxpayers over 65 and taxpayers who support dependent parents over 65 should pay all medical expenses in 1966 to avoid the 3% limitation.

Another important reminder — don't forget to include as medical expenses the premiums paid on medical and hospital insurance, whether paid directly by you or withheld from your pay check.

Are You Missing A Dependency Exemption?

Taxpayers may claim a $600 deduction for each person who qualifies as his dependent. There are several requirements which must be met in order for a person to qualify as a dependent. One of these requirements is that the taxpayer must provide over 50% of the dependent's support.

What happens if several people contribute to the support of an individual, but no one provides over 50%? In such a case the law allows anyone who provided at least 10% of the dependent's support to claim the exemption. However a Multiple Support Agreement (Form 2120) must be signed by each person providing over 10% of the dependent's support. These forms must be attached to the tax return of the individual who is claiming the $600 exemption deduction.

The filing of Form 2120 is an annual election form. Therefore, the dependency exemption may be switched each year among the several people who contribute support.

Deduct Sales and Gasoline Taxes

If you itemize your deductions, remember to deduct amounts paid for the 4% California sales tax and the 7c per gallon California gas tax.

Pay Medical Expenses Before

Since few taxpayers keep track of the amount actually paid for these taxes, the Internal Revenue Service has published tables of acceptable deductions.

The sales tax table determines the allowable deduction based upon adjusted gross income and the size of the family. Taxpayers claiming amounts in excess of the table should be prepared to substantiate them by showing unusual circumstances such as purchase of a new car, furniture, etc.

The gasoline tax table provides a deduction based upon the non-business mileage driven by the taxpayer.

Copies of these tables will be found in your instructions to Form 1040, or they may be obtained from the nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Hamburger Tips For Homemakers

Homemakers appreciate hamburger for its economy and versatility. What other meat can be used so inexpensively in so many different ways

Complete cookbooks have been written with nothing but recipes using hamburger. With the present concern for high food prices, now is a good time to be looking for new ways to use this old favorite.

Many recipes can easily be converted from a more expensive cut to hamburger just by changing this one ingredient. For example, for beef stroganoff simply substitute browned ground beef for the strips of sirloin or round steak that you usually use.

For chop suey, substitute ground beef for cubes of meat. The same can be done with stew. Even Swiss steak could be made of patties of ground beef with egg as a binder. Cooking time will be shortened considerably in all these recipes.

To save time you can cook a large batch of basic hamburger mix—ground beef, seasonings, onion, etc. — and freeze this in one or two pound amounts for later use in casseroles, spaghetti sauce, stuffed green peppers, barbecued hamburgers and the like. For hot dishes the mix does not even have to be fully defrosted before it's added to other ingredients.

Steaks fashioned from ground beef and barbecued on your charcoal grill have all the wonderful charcoal flavor at one-third the cost.

For barbecuing some prefer the lower cost regular ground beef instead of high-priced ground round or medium-priced ground chuck because the increased amount of fat makes the meat more juicy and flavorful. It's the fat dripping from the meat onto the coals and smoking that gives barbecued meat its "charcoal" flavor. Lean ground round with little fat is dry and has less flavor when barbecued.

Hamburgers For Bacon

Because the price of bacon is so high, ground beef may be used for breakfast, as patties or just crumpled beef, seasoned with onion for flavor. You might also add a can of soup such as celery or mushroom to the browned beef and serve over toast for breakfast or lunch.

You not only save money but also get more food value when you substitute ground beef for bacon. The least expensive ground beef cannot by law have more than 30 per cent fat and often has about 25 per cent fat. Most bacon is about 70 per cent fat.

Thus, you pay 16 cents an ounce for the protein in 79-cent-a-pound bacon and only 3.3 cents an ounce for the protein in 39-cent-a-pound hamburger.

Low Cost Hamburger

Many homemakers are leery about choosing the low-priced "regular" ground beef because they are fearful it is made from "old" or poor quality meat.

This is not usually the case. Regular ground beef is made from the less tender muscles or less tender animals, but is just as wholesome and nutritious as higher priced ground meats. It must be made from state or federally inspected beef. By law it cannot contain organ meats or added extenders such as dry milk or cereal. Fat content cannot be greater than 30 per cent.

So it's worthwhile to sample a market's low-priced hamburger and find out if the flavor is acceptable.

Tips on Tuna
by Betty Crocker

Consider a can of tuna and count its many talents. Star of sandwich board and salad bowl . . . pie crust and casserole . . . a la king and soup tureen . . . pizza platter and appetizer. Any wonder that notoriously inexpensive and nutritious tuna is the most popular fish in the nation! When you buy it canned, remember tuna comes in three different styles. Solid pack, pretty fillets of white meat. Chunk style, bite-size pieces. And flaked or grated tuna. If you're calorie conscious, choose tuna packed in broth. It has only half as many calories as oil-packed tuna. Now a few new ways to glorify tuna with quick and easy hot breads.

TUNA BISCUIT BRAID

2 cups tuna, drained and flaked
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
Biscuit dough (below)

Heat oven to 425°. Mix all ingredients except Biscuit dough. Roll Biscuit dough into a rectangle, 12x10 inches. Place on baking sheet. Spread tuna mixture down center of dough. Make 7 cuts on each side from edge of dough to tuna filling. Bring first two opposite strips over filling; seal ends. Continue to crisscross remaining strips. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with creamed peas, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

Biscuit dough: Mix 2 cups Bisquick and ⅔ cup milk with fork. Beat vigorously 20 strokes until stiff and slightly sticky. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured cloth-covered board.

TUNA BURGERS

1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup chopped celery
1 small onion, minced
½ cup diced Cheddar cheese
½ cup chopped ripe olives
¼ cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
6 hamburger buns

Mix all ingredients except buns. Fill buttered buns with mixture. Place in paper sandwich bags or wrap in aluminum foil. Fold and fasten bags with paper clips. Refrigerate. Just before serving, heat at 350° for 15 to 20 minutes. 6 servings.

Tuna and Bisquick, naturals for emergency shelves. Convert to shortcakes. Instant hospitality!

The knowledge of general health and safety tips is inexpensive insurance. Listed below is a one-minute refresher course.

SAFETY AT HOME — Accidents are the greatest single health hazard in the American home. What does it profit a man if he observes all the health rules, falls off the kitchen ladder, and breaks his neck? So tighten those ladder bolts. Banish those used razor blades. Fix that loose cellar step. Check your wiring installation; make sure it hasn't any exposed spots.

SAFETY IN NUTRITION — Keep your gurad up against illness and disease by observing the basic rules of good nutrition. Don't slight any of the "fundamental four" food groups: (1) milk and milk products; (2) meat, poultry, fish and eggs; (3) green and yellow vegtables and fruits; (4) bread—whole grain if possible—and cereals.

RUG SAFETY — Get rid of no longer-needed drugs and medicines. Be sure all drugs in your cabinet are clearly labeled. Don't take medicine in the dark, or without consulting the label. Keep drugs out of children's reach.

HIGHWAY SAFETY — It isn't enough just to have a seat belt. Use it regularly. Shoulder harness is important too. Don't drive if you've been drinking. Don't compete with agressive types.

GENERAL SAFETY —When you have your annual medical checkup (that's one resolution you really should make), be sure it includes a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray.

Abraham Lincoln said you couldn't fool all the people all the time, but that was before the Interstate highways.

Team Ground Beef and Canned Beef Gravy for a Skillet Supper

Every now and then it's fun to explore the "where from" of a popular food. Take, for instance, ground beef. Grinding beef began long ago, when a convenience-minded Egyptian cook discovered that minced meat cooked quickly. Hamburger, as we know it, evolved in the Hamburg, Germany area where people found that the raw, highly seasoned and finely ground beef of which they were fond was equally good when broiled until crisp and brown on the outside, juicy and rare on the inside.

But anyone, regardless of nationality, will make one admission: Although Americans didn't discover hamburger, they certainly perfected its use! Here's a recipe that substantiates the idea. Beef-Mac Skillet is one more way to use convenient, economical ground beef to make quick and hearty eating. There's double-beef flavor in this dish because the easy-do "sauce" begins with robust canned beef gravy. Discover how good that velvet-smooth gravy is when used in combination with ground beef in your other favorite skillet or casserole dishes.

BEEF-MAC SKILLET

1 pound ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
⅓ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10¾ ounces) beef gravy
2 cups cooked macaroni
1 cup cooked carrots cut in 1-inch strips
3 slices (3 ounces) mild process cheese, cut in half diagonally

Combine beef, salt, and pepper; shape into 16 meatballs. In skillet, brown meatballs and cook onion, green pepper, and chili powder in butter until vegetables are tender. Stir in gravy, macaroni, and carrots. Cover; cook over low heat 20 minutes. Stir now and then. Arrange cheese around edge of skillet; heat until cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

YOUR BEST INTEREST
SOUTHLAND SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION
...IS THE KIND YOU EARN

Been paying much interest lately? A new car? Home furnishings? Repairs? Medical bills? Wardrobe? A boat? Some people take a vacation and pay later... and pay...and pay. On the typical 36-month time payment plan, five or more of the payments represent financing costs—and that's only at bank rates. Some pay more. On the other hand, the same money systematically saved month-by-month at Southland's high return, can be earning an amount equal to three monthly payments. That's a total difference of eight payments. Translated into dollars and cents—at least $650 per $2500 expenditure. That must be why more and more people with prudence, and just a little patience, are becoming their own finance company—with a savings account at Southland Savings and Loan Association.

A Short Story Entitled:
"A BOLD MOVE"
or "How To Start The New Year Right"

Once upon a time there were three savings and loan associations — Southland Savings and Loan Association of Chula Vista, Southland Savings and Loan Association (in La Mesa), and Southland Savings and Loan Association of Pacific Beach. Each Southland Association had its own head office and branch office locations. It was wonderful because all three always offered the same high rate of interest on insured savings and one or the other had an office in almost every major area of San Diego.

Business was good and all the savings account customers were very happy. But one day somebody said things could be even better. And everybody said, "How?" The person answered, "Why not make them all one association so that customers can transact business at any of the locations in all of San Diego, regardless of which office holds their account. Not only that, but one big organization can be more efficient and you can take the money that is saved and give it back to the customers in the form of computerized account procedures and many other time-saving and labor-saving services." After everybody thought for a moment, they all said, "Why not?" So they did.

And now there's one great big Southland Savings and Loan Association to serve you. It has more to offer than ever before and it has assets of nearly $160,000,000 and it's the largest state chartered savings and loan association in San Diego County.
